

work in St. Louis? Have you lost your damn mind? Rule #1: Don't shit where you sleep.

ANTOINE

Yes and no. Not exactly. I'm not sure, exactly, which jurisdictions my boss will pull from and I don't know which jurisdictions and departments gone buck about sending personnel and equipment for something not concerning their own shit. But, once I do, I will know what areas have a low police presence--and low capabilities of responding to heavily armed men--within at least a 125 mile radius of St. Louis. Out of those jurisdictions, yall do yall recon thing and if there are targets worth hitting...well, I say we hit the lick with the most loot and least resistance.